PLATFORM.

Expressing the Sentiments of the Republican Party of Chaves County in the Campaign for Constitutional Delegates Ending Sept. 6, 1910.

We, the delegates to the Republican County convention held August 6, 1910, set forth the following as a declaration of principles binding our delegates, and which should be contained in the constitution of the new state of New Mexico:

1. The Constitution should absolutely prohibit gambling in all forms, and we favor a provision in the Constitution of New Mexico for state-wide and we condemn the so-called local option as a saloon make-shift.

2. It should provide absolute protection for vested rights of all kinds, from the most modest holdings of the poor man to the largest interests of rich men, and there should be no unjust discrimination against corporations, thus settling the question of the saloon and the liquor traffic, organized for the purpose of helpful industry or enterprise. In other words the same careful protection that is extended to the individual shall be extended to the corporations.

3. It should provide for a Utility Commission, to be elected by the people, whose duty it shall be to maintain an oversight over and properly correct the rates and charges of all carriers and utilities, and whose decision shall be final, except, of course, normal appeal to the supreme court.

4. It should provide for a comprehensive system of direct primaries and a system of elections that will insure the electors a fair expression of their will in both primary and major elections. The use of money or undue influence of any kind shall constitute a felony.

5. It should abolish absolutely the fee system for county officers, providing in its place an equitable system of salaries, the income of the various offices passing direct to the people. Under this plank it is meant that the people shall pay no more for service than would be paid in ordinary business.

6. There should be a general and positive system of tax reforms, the base of which should be assessment by voting precincts, and the abolition of the office of county assessor, the new system to be based upon the return of an honest valuation on exactly the same ratio with the man who has little and the man who has much, concluding with the enforced collection of every cent of tax imposed.

7. It should provide for a system of judiciary based as closely as possible upon that in use in other states, the base of which should rest upon the election of all judges by the people, for long terms, at a time when no other issue is pending.

8. We believe that the Constitution should be as short and clear as possible, providing for the usual necessary divisions of government, and leaving to the legislature all plainly statutory matters. The section fixing the powers of the legislature in this direction should be very plainly outlined, as should the right of the people to amend the constitution in a reasonable manner in such rational way as is recognized by the best governed states in the union.

9. We are squarely opposed to the placing in the constitution of untried phases of governmental policy, and insist that the document be broad enough to admit the adoption of necessary reforms by legislative enactment when the trend of the times makes it advisable.

10. We believe in the fullest protection and extension of the educational system of the state, that every school should be taught in the English language, the use of other tongues being purely supplemental and optional.

11. We believe in the equal protection of capital and labor, and the fullest recognition of the rights of the individuals, with special privileges to no man or combination of men.

12. We insist that there shall never be in the state of New Mexico any

ODE TO DEBT.

Oh, debt!
You omnipresent hanger-on,
Are you here yet?
Pray, do be gone!
You've been beside me all these years
To turn my laughter into tears.
I never met,
In all my travels, it appears,
In any set
A more persistent parasite
You keep beside me day and night.
And, if I get
The more provoked that, in my tight,
You mock at my financial plight,
You do not fret;
But, while I feel the wildest fear:
And mourn that I am in arrears,
Without regret
You linger still—and stay and stay
To taunt me that I can not pay,
Why can't you let
A fellow be, and go away,
And give him respite for a day
Just to forget
That, but for you, life would be gay,
A path of roses all the way?
Oh, debt!
You omnipresent hanger-on,
Are you here yet?
Pray, do be gone!—FRITZ G. LANHAM, in Dallas News.

HOW HE DID IT.

A lawyer once asked a man who had at various times sat on several juries: "Who influenced you most—the lawyers, the witnesses or the judge?" He expected to get some useful and interesting information from so experienced a jurymen. This was the man's reply: "I'll tell yer, sir, 'ow I makes up my mind. I'm a plain man, and reasonin' man, and I ain't influenced by any thing the lawyers say; no, nor by what the Judges says. I just looks at the man in the docks and says: "If he ain't done nothing why's he here?" And I brings 'em all in guilt."—Short Stories.

ADVERSE TO CAUSING TROUBLE

Chicago Boy's Excellent Reasons for Keeping Silent About Some Things He Knew.

"Pa," asked a Chicago boy, who has recently been making frequent trips to his father's office, "do you believe in gettin' divorced?" "No. There is altogether too much of that kind of thing going on." "Don't you think ma ought to get a divorce from you if you did wrong?" "Why do you ask such questions? You are too young to bother about things of that kind." "But if you did something that was very bad don't you think ma ought to get a divorce from you?" "Oh! I've never given the matter any thought. I'm not going to do anything bad." "But supposin' you did, do you think ma ought to go on livin' with you?" "It would depend on how bad I had been. People who have children should be willing to bear a great deal without letting the world know about it." "If other women came into your office and you pinched their cheeks when you didn't think anybody was lookin' and they called you Fuzzy Wuzzy and Tootles and made you give them money to buy theater tickets, do you think ma ought to stick to you?" "I don't know. I wish you'd stop asking questions and run out and play. You are tiresome." "Then I'm not goin' to tell her all I know, 'cause I don't want to break up this family."

THE POISONS IN COAL GAS

Many Are Known, But There is One Constituent That is a Puzzle to Scientists.

The poisonous properties of coal gas are generally attributed to its content of carbonic oxide, especially as no other substance of known poisonous properties has been found in it, and patients suffering from coal gas poisoning show the symptoms associated with the inhalation of carbonic oxide, including the peculiar bright red color of the blood. From experiments made by Dr. von Vahlen, at Halle, it seems probable that we must revise this view, for on making experiments with frogs, animals particularly resistant to carbonic oxide, it was found that they were poisoned far more rapidly by coal gas than by the corresponding amount of the oxide. Other experiments with dogs showed that the poisonous effect of coal gas was twice or three times as great as that of the carbonic oxide it contained. Evidently there is some other constituent of coal gas which is poisonous, though what it is cannot yet be stated. Merely removing the carbonic oxide from coal gas will not suffice to render it non-poisonous.—The Ironmonger.
